

Insight on Coaching – Guest Bio

Hannah S. Wilder: Founding Director, Advantara

Introduction

Hannah is Founding Director of Advantara® Executive Development Worldwide and Advantara® International Coach Training Institute. Both global organizations are based on valuing and leveraging intercultural diversity and global executive coaching expertise, with a particular emphasis in coaching global, cross-functional, and geographically dispersed executive and management teams from a High Awareness Coaching© perspective.

Experience

For over thirty-five years Hannah has worked with executives and teams from over fifty countries, in Fortune 100, 500, and 1000 companies, international media organizations and government agencies (the latter prior to 2000). Hannah has a global network of executive coaching affiliates. For seven years she has been a leader in global and intercultural coaching, continuously hosting three international special interest groups meeting monthly on the topic during these years.

Hannah is often a featured speaker at international conferences on leadership development, coaching, cross cultural education and research, and change and transition management. She is the author of numerous articles and books, including the forthcoming Coaching Executives in a Global Context: Changing the Human and Business Environment, and Intentional Inquiry: Using Purposeful Questions to Develop Critical Thinking and Conscious Wisdom.

Education

- B.A., Syracuse University, Russian Studies
- M.A , Harvard University, Regional Studies
- PhD, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Leadership and Human Development

Professional Affiliations, and Recognition

- Fellowships and Awards: Ford Foundation, Carnegie Endowment, American Assn of University Women, Radcliffe Institute, MIT Research fellowship and Milton Fellowship and Russian Research Center Fellowships at Harvard University
- Member of SIETAR UK and International Coach Federation
- Adjunct Professor Coaching Research, Institute of Transpersonal Psychology
- Licensed Clinical Professional Counselor, Master Certified Coach, Master Team Coach and Instructor, Certified Global Executive Coach