

Insight on Coaching – Guest Bio

Jonathan Wheeler: President, Clarion Group, Ltd.

Introduction

Jon has had a diverse career including multiple technology sales and marketing roles for a Fortune 100 company; he also has been a management advisor supporting large scale business transformation projects in global enterprises, the general manager of a media division of a rapidly expanding telecommunications firm, co-founder of a venture backed software startup, and the founder and principal of his own management consulting firm.

Experience

Through these varied experiences, Jon has built a rich perspective on how businesses operate and what can make the difference between success and mediocrity. These issues range from strategic clarity to operational execution and in particular the people related dynamics that are most critical. He has gained these perspectives from both being on the line as a business leader and from advising others.
