

Insight on Coaching – Guest Bio

Karlin Sloan
Executive Coach, Author
CEO, Karlin Sloan & Company

Introduction

Karlin Sloan is a coaching pioneer who started one of the first coaching focused consultancies in Silicon Valley in the early 1990s. Karlin is CEO of Karlin Sloan & Company, a U.S.-based leadership development consulting firm, and specializes in executive coaching, high potential leadership development programs, 360 assessment programs, and sustainable leadership. She is the author of “Smarter, Faster, Better; Strategies for Effective, Enduring, and Fulfilled Leadership” and has also authored several articles including, “Are We Asking the Right Questions?: Using Inquiry for Great Coaching Results,” and “Green Goals: Can protecting the planet be a sound business practice?” Karlin is also an alumna of the Prince of Wales Business & the Environment Program at Cambridge University.

Experience

At Karlin Sloan & Company, Karlin provides organization development consulting, training, and executive coaching to clients in the U.S., South America, and Asia. Her clients include Allstate, Leo Burnett, Interbank, MTV Networks, Yahoo!, Wrigley, Citigroup, and Starcom Mediavest Group. She is a frequent presenter on the topic of executive leadership development and has been featured on ABC News Network's "Moneyscope," Fox Channel Five's "Good Day New York," and Boston Cable Network's "The Art of Coaching." Karlin is a member of The Executive Coaching Summit and a founding member of the International Consortium for Coaching in Organizations. She has published articles in OD Practitioner magazine, ASTD's Leadership and Organization Development Newsletter, and The International Journal of Coaching in Organizations, as well as writing the “Executive Coach” column for Executive Travel magazine.

Education

Karlin earned her B.A. from Mills College, an M.A. in Clinical Psychology from the Professional School of Psychology in San Francisco, and an executive coach certification through the William James Institute Center for Executive Coaching. Karlin is also an alumna of the Prince of Wales Business & the Environment Program at Cambridge University.

Professional Affiliations, Publications and Recognition

Karlin has been featured in The Wall Street Journal, The Los Angeles Times, The Christian Science Monitor, and numerous other publications as an expert in workplace behavior. Fortune Small Business magazine recognized Karlin for her consulting work with organizations following the terrorist attacks of September 11th. She is also on the adjunct faculty of Wharton's Executive Education program at the University of Pennsylvania.